

Abstract

A high ratio, double helical epicyclic gear transmission that is primarily intended for use in rotary wing aircraft employs double helical planet gears to obtain a reduction in size of the transmission, to improve the safety of the 5 transmission, and to reduce the noise created by operation of the transmission.